Brazil's Monarchy Overthrown and a Republic Proclaimed.

Old Emperor Dom Pedro Deposed by Force of Arms.

Senor da Fonseca Declared President of the New Republic.

Flurry Among South American Merchants in This City.

The Coffee Market Excited by Fears of Hostilities and Stoppage of Supplies.

FOR CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.
LONDON, Nov. 16.—The latest advices from Rio de Janeiro are that Emperor Dom Pedro has been deposed and Senor da Fonseca proclaimed President.

Senor da Fonseca has issued an address urging peace and order among the people and guaranteeing the safety of the imperial family.

The question of finally forming the Republic will be submitted to a vote of the people as soon as order is fully restored.

Senor Ladario, Minister of Marine, was shot by the rebel soldiers, but not killed, as reported.
He is seriously wounded.

The deposed ministry was composed of Vincent de Oure Preto, the recognized leader of the Liberal party in Brazil; Baron Loreto, Minister of the Empire; Jose Francisco Dians, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Cordilo Luis Maria de Oliveira, Minister of Justice; Lourenco Cavalcanti de Albuquerque, Minister of Agriculture, Commerce and Public Works; General Baron de Maracaja, Minister of War, and Hernandes Barao de Ladorio, Minister of the Navy.

Private cables at 3 o'clock this morning state that all is quiet.

LATER—A despatch from Rio de Janeiro dated 4 A. M. states that the Imperial Ministers have been arrested and placed in close confinement.

Emperor Dom Pedro is at his summer place at Petropolis, twenty-five miles north of Rio de Janeiro.

All business in Rio is suspended, but there is no danger to life or property.

The provisional government has guaranteed protection to all members of the Imperial family.

Brazilian securities fell three points on the London Stock Exchange to-day.

News of the revolution in Brazil, the overthrow of Dom Pedro II. and the establishment of a republic threw downtown merchants and commission agents, especially those engaged in the South American trade, into a ferment of excitement to-day.

There was a flurry in the coffee market owing to fears that hostilities would continue, and that such event the supply would be cut off by a blockade.

The market opened at an advance of from 15 to 25 points over yesterday's closing prices.

There was an excited feeling among traders on the floor all morning, and the market continued irregular.

About 30,000 bags were sold at advanced prices during the early hours of the day.

Despatches confirming the above were received by Charles E. Flint & Co., of 142 Pearl street, one of the largest firms in the South American trade in this city.

Later on, other despatches were received by Hart & Band, Arbuckle Bros., and Joseph J.

O'Donoghue, but they contained no further particulars.

A private cable received by Holworthy & Ellis, coffee brokers, this morning stated that it was not likely that the trouble in Rio Janeiro would interfere with shipments of coffee from that port.

At the office of the Brazilian Consulate, John P. Hedman, the acting consul, said he has received a telegram from Senor da Mendonca, the Consul, this morning, stating that the importance of the news from Brazil would probably keep him in Washington for several days.

NO NEWS AT THE CONSULATE.
No official news has reached the Consulate here in regard to the situation at Rio, and none of the public or private cables have received confirmation or denial.

CONFIRMED BY PRIVATE DESPATCHES.
The New York Commercial Company, Limited, of which Charles E. Flint is treasurer, received a cable from the London correspondents of the company, who are friends of the Rothschilds, the bankers of the Brazilian Government, as follows:

Brazilian republic probable. Exchange declining.
Peaceful settlement likely.

Another cable from John Matthews & Co., of Rio Janeiro, to F. W. Minford & Co. of this city, says:

Revolution in Brazil. Army and navy combined.
COFFEE FOR TWO MONTHS HERE.
Mr. Flint told a reporter of THE EVENING World this morning that the supply of coffee in the United States, and that the demand for coffee was sufficient to supply the demand for about two months. Of rubber thirteen-sixths of the whole quantity imported comes from Brazil, and there is now only a supply for two or three weeks.

EX-MAYOR GRACE SANGUINE.
Ex-Mayor W. R. Grace, whose principal trade with Brazil is in rubber, said today:
"So far as rubber is concerned I think prices will be lower instead of higher."

The crops now being gathered and is for the most part already on its way to Para, the port of shipment. I do not think any political trouble will prevent its coming forward.

Mr. Grace added that he fully believed the revolution had actually taken place as stated.
He had believed for some time that a revolution was inevitable and that it would come very soon.

RISE OF THE REBELLION.

It has been known that the revolutionists in Brazil have been rapidly growing in numbers for some time past, and that the movement in favor of establishing a republic was becoming very popular with the army as well as among the masses of the people, but the revolution came with great suddenness.

The Emperor frankly acknowledged and openly discussed the movement, and in a public address made by him in Pernambuco last August, he said he desired only the happiness and prosperity of the Brazilian people, and that when they signified by their votes that monarchy was an obstacle to the progress of Brazil he would abdicate the throne.

An attempt upon the Emperor's life in the streets of Rio Janeiro, about a month after this, was discovered by the Republicans, who dis-claimed all sympathy with the would-be assassin, although he was a member of a Republican club.

DOM PEDRO'S LONG REIGN.
The deposed Government of Brazil, which was a constitutional monarchy, was established in 1822 when Dom Pedro I., the son of Dom Joao VI. of Portugal, became Emperor. His son, the present Emperor, succeeded him in 1831.

The Government has four branches—the legislative, executive, judicial and the moderating power, which is simply another word for the royal prerogative.

The legislative branch is composed of two houses, the Senate and House of Deputies, the members of both of which are chosen by the people.

BRAZIL'S ARMY AND NAVY.
Military service has been compulsory since 1870, and the standing army now numbers about 15,000 men and 7,000 gendarmes.

The strength of the navy is nine ironclads, six cruisers, eight torpedo-boats and fifteen gun-boats, the list including four turret-ships built in England during the last six years. There are 4,500 officers and men.

The Emperor, during his long reign of nearly thirty years has always been distinguished by the liberality of his policy.

HE FREED THE SLAVES.
His most notable achievement has been the abolition of slavery in Brazil.

In 1871 there were more than 1,500,000 slaves in Brazil, and in March, 1888, a bill was passed by both houses liberating all the remaining slaves to the number of more than half a million.

MISS BLY VERSUS OLD SOL.
Many Wagers Being Laid on the Fair Circumnavigator's Success.

According to the careful computation of a California, Nellie Bly should complete her circumnavigation of the world in seventy-two days, besides having plenty of time to write interesting letters to THE WORLD and allowing a short time for unforeseen delays.

Public interest is centered on the plucky girl's venture and many wagers have been laid on her success at good odds.

While the majority are sanguine of her success there are many who doubt the outcome of her quick trip.

Edward Kenna, general attorney of the St.
Louis and San Francisco Railroad, who has made a study of rapid transit, says that Miss Bly will be handicapped by her sex.

H. N. Wells, an ex-naval officer, declares that while the feat is not impossible, she will need the utmost vigilance, and should she succeed it does not follow that anybody could accomplish it.

The press of the country are greatly interested in her undertaking, and all wish her success; many of those who have followed the fair writer in her past undertakings say that she can do it if any one can.

It is now a contest between Miss Bly and Old Sol, in which the former is given great odds in consideration of her comparatively slow speed, for the "red-faced old man" will have to make seventy-five circuits of the earth while Miss Bly is making it once.

MATISM BY DR. SCOTT'S ELECTRIC PLASTER, 25c.

REPAIR THE WRONG

Aldermen Urged to Act Promptly in Restoring the Musicians' Rights.

The Prohibitive Ordinance Can Be Rescinded at Tuesday's Meeting.

Increasing Distress Among the Victims of Hasty, Ill-Advised Legislation.

The condition of the organ-grinders becomes worse each succeeding day. A walk through Elizabeth, Crosby and other streets this morning showed that the men are becoming poorer, and that many of them are actually suffering from lack of food and warmth.

Several cripples called at the little organ factory of G. Molinari & Son, 153 Elizabeth street, and begged him to buy their organs. They were without food and the landlord was clamoring for his rent. Kind-hearted Joe Molinari, who has sought to keep the men from becoming discouraged, refused to buy their music-boxes.

"No; don't you sell it," he would say to an applicant. "The Aldermen are going to meet very soon and they will reconsider their action and you can then go to work. If you sell you will be worse off than ever."

"But I've got to get something to eat," the poor fellow would answer.

"Well, you come back here," and Joe would lead the way towards the rear of the apartment and would give the fellow something to eat.
And so it would go on.

The men look forward eagerly to their meeting on Monday night, and hope that the authorities will act in the matter at once. The meeting is to be held in Broome's Assembly Rooms, in Broome street. There will be speakers in several languages, who will explain to the men the exact condition of the matter, and it is probable that the committee will be appointed to call upon the Mayor and to urge the Aldermen to take immediate action.

Their circumstances are daily becoming worse. Many of them are about to be turned away from their homes unless they settle their rent. Many of the able-bodied men who pay bass instruments have left town, but the poor cripples have not the money to get away with.

If the Aldermen could only go around and see the misery that has resulted from their prohibitory action they would not delay a moment, but would hasten to repair the damage they have done. This something is done immediately with the men and their families will become a burden upon the city.

It has been learned from conversations with members of the popular radical change has taken place in the sentiments of the Aldermen, and that the merits of the case, as presented by the committee, will be appreciated to men to favor an immediate repeal or modification of the ordinance banishing the musicians.

The members of the band-organists will give pleasure to thousands, will offend the senses of none but the ultra-fastidious, and will be a source of pleasure and interest to knowledge that hundreds of little children and helpless dependents will be saved from extreme destitution.

The Aldermen meet next Tuesday. Not a moment should be wasted before the arbitrary restriction on these poor fellows' efforts to earn a livelihood are removed.

There can be little doubt that the Aldermen will yield to the popular demand, and either rescind or modify the ordinance passed so heartily.

PANIC IN A TENEMENT.

Occupants of a Prince Street Roostery Frightened by an Early Morning Fire.

Fire in a tenement-house roostery in a narrow alley at 20 Prince street at 7 o'clock this morning caused the street to be filled with shivering men, women and children.

The blaze was in a three-room rear tenement giving on the alley, and was put out without causing much damage other than an incident panic among the tenants, whose poor belongings were injured by the water.

Accident to an L. Train.

Trains on the Second Avenue Elevated road were blocked for a time at Fortieth street, at 7 o'clock this morning, owing to the breaking of the couplings of the engine drawing a downtown train.

A section of the steam heating tube, with heavy iron couplings attached, led to the street, but no one was hurt.

But To-Day's Subscriptions Bring the Fourth Million Much Nearer.

St. Louis Will Make a Big Fight For the Exposition.

"The World's" Personal Canvass Fund Assumes Generous Proportions.

It was generally expected that the action of the brewers in subscribing a half million to the World's Fair Guarantee Fund would be emulated by other large concerns who will materially benefit by the Exposition being held in this city.

Such is not the case, however, and the subscriptions are coming in very slowly.

The largest sum subscribed yesterday was by William Waldorf Astor, who pledged the sum of $25,000.

The blanks sent out by the Mayor are bringing in good results, and the Fund has been materially increased by the personal application to tradesmen of this city.

Altogether, $70,172 were subscribed yesterday, which, with the grant total from all sources to date, brings the sum up to $1,440,- 493, with the brewers yet to be heard from.

The personal canvass of THE WORLD is making good headway, and the books this morning showed the total to be as follows:

Gov. Francis, of Missouri, and Col. Jones, editor of the St. Louis Republic, are at the Hoffman House, having stopped here on their way to Washington, where, as representatives of a committee of 200, they propose to establish a World's Fair headquarters and petition Congress to take the matter up.

They are amply provided with documents, maps and addresses to the Congressmen, in fact, they are the only representatives of St. Louis as a site are now in the city.

As an instance of their earnestness a guaran-

YOUNG REQUA FOUND.

The Wandering Bridegroom Detained at Niagara Falls.

George R. Requa, the young bridegroom of two weeks, who disappeared mysteriously last Tuesday, has been located.

George W. Requa, the young man's father, was almost overcome with joy when an EVENING World reporter saw him at the Empire East Freight line's office this morning.

"I have just received this telegram from him," he said, and handed an EVENING WORLD reporter a despatch, which read:

Come at once. Spencer House, Niagara Falls. Bring Mabel.

"And this is the only information you have received?"

"Yes, but that tells me that he is alive and that's worth a great deal to me."

"I have telegraphed him that we will start to-morrow, and I have also telegraphed to the proprietor of the Spencer House to keep him there and take care of him until we arrive."

"How do you account for your son's strange and sudden disappearance?"

"I think, possibly, that he may have taken morning to some extent, and that may have affected his mind and caused him to wander away."

Young Requa, at the time he disappeared, was engaged to be married to Mabel Levy, who is now in the city, and who may have with her, who was Miss Mabel Levy.

Last Tuesday morning he came to the city as usual, intending to cash some checks for his wife. He also had about $100 in cash with him.
He was not seen again.

He was a bookkeeper for the Prudential Fire Association at 170 Broadway.

ANN O'DELIA'S LATEST.

Priestess Dis Debar Lures a Washington Widow Over to London.

The latest news of the Princess Editha Lolita Ann O'Delia Solomon Dis Debar is given in a morning paper. She figures in London as "Mrs. Marsh" and appears in the costume of a Sister of Charity.

Her latest victim is wealthy Widow Levy, of Washington, whom she succeeded in inducing to accompany her across the water by the old familiar ways.

Mrs. Levy was deserted at the Elgin Crescent House, a resort of Mrs. Blavatsky's Theosophical followers, the Dis Debar taking some $1,400 of Mrs. Levy's money, but kindly leaving a big bond bill to comfort the widow.

The present whereabouts of the spiritual priestess and of the earth-carthy fraud is unknown.

LILLIAN DIDN'T ELOPE.

She Left Chicago to Come Here For Medical Treatment.

The denial by Mrs. Leonard, Manager Aronson and the firm of Sanford & Sons, regarding the alleged elopement of Lillian Russell with Will C. Sanford, as published in THE EVENING World yesterday, were corroborated by the appearance of the fair songstress herself. And when seen at her mother's home, 234 West Forty-third street, this morning, she corroborat-ed and reiterated the denial.

She left Chicago, she said, in order to come here for medical treatment, as she was suffering from neurasthenia.

In addition to this, she has a suit pending with Manager Duff, and it is expected to be called any day.

She said that Mr. Sanford was only a friend of hers, and she would not think of eloping with any man, nor would she have any reason to do so, as she was her own mistress and could do as she pleased.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH SCANDAL.

Neither Dr. Rylands Nor His Accusers Ready with Particulars.

The case of Rev. Dr. Rylands, of St. Mark's Church, was to have come up before Judge Freeman in the Superior Court this morning, but none of the parties were present.

Lawyer Quackenbos, for Mr. King and St.
Mark's vestry, said his bill of particulars was in preparation, but not yet completed, and would probably not be presented before Tuesday.

Attorney Leavitt, for Dr. Rylands, has not yet completed his bill of particulars.
